ABSTRACT

[0032] An article for affixing an object to a surface such as wall or the human skin including a release film folded over itself and attached to an adhesive layer associated with the object. The release film would include a projection tab extending beyond the adhesive layer of the article and the edge of the article being attached, thereby facilitating the removal of the release tape in a manner allowing the object to be easily and accurately to the surface.